

TAB Votes to Release Regional Solicitation for Public Comment

At their January meeting, the Transportation Advisory Board (TAB) took action on a series of business items related to the 2026 Regional Solicitation as the application package continues to be reworked ahead of the next call for projects. The TAB took up additional items related to the solicitation for the 5 percent of regional sales tax revenue earmarked for active transportation. All the items on the TAB's agenda were approved, including the items that would release the draft 2026 Regional Solicitation application package for public comment.

The first pair of items set the qualifying requirements for regional solicitation and active transportation projects. Most of the discussion dealt with year-round maintenance of any infrastructure funded by either pot of money. The item, as approved by the TAB, requires project sponsors to include information on how maintenance for year-round use will be met. As was the case during the Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) meeting, concerns were raised about requiring smaller local governments to provide this level of maintenance with a particular focus on the burdens of providing snow removal service.

Next, the TAB considered what, if any, local match should be required for projects funded out of the active transportation solicitation. The legislature did not require any match when the regional transportation sales tax was established in law. Last week, the TAC forwarded a recommendation calling for a 5% match for local bike and pedestrian facilities, but no match for the active transportation planning grants. The TAB decided to approve no match requirement for any of the active transportation funding categories.

At their meeting earlier this month, the TAC moved forward two proposals regarding the degree to which "community considerations" scores would be weighted among the other scoring criteria in each of the regional solicitation funding categories. The first option, recommended by TAC's Funding & Programming committee, sets community considerations at 10% in the safety application categories and down from 15% in all other application categories. The second, which was recommended by the Policy Work Group, sets community considerations criterion at 15% in the safety application categories but bumps up "Improvements for People Outside of Vehicles" to 25%. The Policy Work Group allocates 20% of the scoring points for community considerations for all the other non-safety funding categories.

The TAB ultimately voted to move forward the Policy Work Group recommendation. Proponents of this option highlighted the fact that all of the other goals outlined in Imagine 2050 have dedicated funding categories except for equity and inclusion, and that the understanding was that without that dedicated funding category some sort of equity scoring criteria should be baked into each of the other categories. The public comment period for both the Regional Solicitation and Active Transportation application packages will be open January 23rd until February 17th. Following the public comment period, staff will compile a report along with any suggested changes for TAB's review and approval.

A call for projects is anticipated to be announced in Spring 2026 with project selection concluding by the end of the calendar year. The Metropolitan Council is planning to do a full evaluation of the criteria, measures, process, and results of this next solicitation sometime in 2027.

Cannabis Industry Dashboard

The Office of Cannabis Management (OCM) has developed a new “Cannabis Market Monitor” where anyone who is interested can explore data related to the adult-use cannabis industry. This interactive dashboard includes information about licenses, medical and adult-use cannabis sales over time, breakdowns of sales by product type and price per gram of flower, as well as the number of plants started and harvested by month. The OCM plans to update their Market Monitor monthly. Another useful resource produced by the StarTribune tracks the locations of cannabis retail stores that are operating throughout the state. Finally, visit Metro Cities’ Adult-Use Cannabis Resources web page for more information on the law and other helpful resources for cities.
